LET'S GO!

Why on earth would anyone want to use social media for educational purposes!?!? Aren't we just asking for trouble!?!?

One of the the biggest benefits to using social media in the classroom is that we can reach students on their turf, where they're comfortable.

Other benefits to social media use in education…

- Helps students develop digital literacy.
- Teachers can offer immediate feedback and so can students.
- Allows students to develop their ability to participate in online discourse.
- Improves and increases participation.
- Improves writing.
- Allows students to be more creative because they can supplement answers with digital resources.

Twitter Chats

- Allows a large number of students to participate at the same time.
- Teachers can follow participation by monitoring the chat hashtag.
- Allows for immediate feedback from teachers and students.
- May allow introverts to participate more fully.
- Students, and even the teacher, develop creativity by supplementing photos and digital resources into the conversation.

Bowman, Jennifer Davis. “Facilitating a Class Twitter Chat.” Edutopia, George Lucas Educational Foundation, 18 Dec. 2017, www.edutopia.org/article/facilitating-class-twitter-chat.

Steps to hosting a Twitter Chat:

1. Plan
2. Prepare
3. Schedule
4. Host
5. Feedback

Plan

- What are the outcomes you expect?
- What's the theme of the chat?
- Are you introducing new material or do students need to come to the chat with prior knowledge?

Prepare

- Prepare students for the chat. Give them the rules and expectations. SCHOOL APPROPRIATE RESPONSES!!!
- Remind students that they must put the chat #hashtag in all of their responses.
- Students should indicate which question they are answering with A1, A2, A3, etc.
- Make sure parents are aware and understand that a Twitter chat is public.
- Develop your questions or prompts based on your planning. What do students need to see in the prompt or question? Is it written or visual?

Schedule

- Use tweetdeck.com to schedule all of the tweets for the chat. This is so the prompts/questions will post to the chat without your attention; you can concentrate on the chat and your students.

- Schedule the tweets needed for the run up to the chat. These are used as a reminder and as a promotional tool.

Host

- Engage students!
- Interact with them as they respond.
- Retweet and like the responses worthy of it.
- Model the digital behavior you want to see in you students.
- Model the creativity for your students.

Feedback

- At the end of the chat, ask students for feedback about the topic of your next chat.

- Engage students about the chat the following day at school.

- What did students learn during the chat?

- What can you do to make the next chat better?

#rhsspanchat

Live Twitter Chat

For the next 5 minutes, you will participate in a live Twitter Chat. You're going to brainstorm Chat topics for your content areas.

Search #tripleSchat and answer the prompts.

BookSnaps

- Allows students to be creative with comprehension answers.
- No paper.
- Easy to track and grade.

En 1931, Diego y Frida fueron a San Francisco. Diego recibió dos comisiones importantes. Para empezar, Diego quería explorar la ciudad, quería saber más sobre la gente y la vida de los Estados Unidos. Le fascinaba el fútbol americano. A Diego le fascinaba todo lo que le ofrecía esta nación. Pero Frida tenía una opinión diferente. Ella se sentía aburrida.

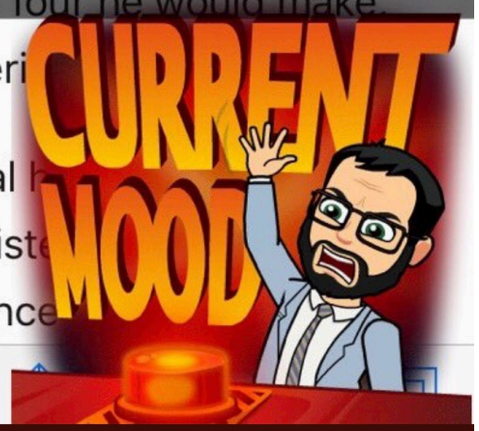
Columbus mistakes manatees for mermaids

On this day in 1493, Italian explorer Christopher Columbus, sailing near the Dominican Republic, sees three "mermaids"–in reality manatees–and describes them as "not half as beautiful as they are painted." Six months earlier, Columbus (1451-1506) set off from Spain across the Atlantic Ocean with the Nina, Pinta and Santa Maria, hoping to find a western trade route to Asia. Instead, his voyage, the first of four he would make, led him to the Ameri

And will later decimate thousands via enslavement, disease, and genocide



Mermaids, mythical h
creatures, have existe
